SUBJECT: Status Report on CIPC Projects and Activities--February 1984

1. The CIPC Meeting previously scheduled for 19 March 1984 has been canceled. This action was necessitated because of an incomplete agenda and additional time was needed to develop the necessary background material. The next meeting is tentatively scheduled for 1030 hours, 23 April 1984. At present it appears the Critical Intelligence Needs requirements that each of you identified earlier this year will be the main topic of discussion. We are attempting to consolidate all the nominations into a comprehensive package for your review and discussion at the 23 April meeting. Attached for your use and planning is the projected CIPC meeting dates for the remainder of the year. [redacted] 25X1

2. As you know we have recently chartered a number of new working groups. In addition, the CIPC membership has also grown. Attached for your information and use, as appropriate, is an updated CIPC Organizational Table reflecting these changes. We will continue to update the table as required. [redacted] 25X1

3. Soviet Strategic Cruise Missile Report: The final report has been published. We are now in the process of disseminating the report at both classification levels. We are also preparing memoranda, for the DCI's signature, forwarding the study to the respective Program Managers requesting that they implement the recommendations that are germaine to their respective Programs. Complete dissemination of the Strategic Cruise Missile Study should be effected within the next week or so. [redacted] 25X1

4. Narcotics Study: As most of you know, the Narcotics Study was tabled at the 3 February 1984 NFIC meeting and was approved with modifications. The problem areas within the study were subsequently reworked by the CIPC staff and coordinated with the ADCI and Department of Justice (DOJ)--Mary Lawton and Rick Cinquegrana. FBI and DEA officials were also present at the coordination meeting. [redacted] 25X1 25X1

5. The Narcotics Study is presently being printed in final copy and should be ready for distribution by early next week. Our immediate task is to provide copies of the study to the SSCI, in response to their tasking, and the HPSCI. Subsequently, it will be given appropriate distribution to the NFIC, CIPC and Working Group members. Additionally, we have implemented steps to publish the Narcotics Study at the [redacted] level. This is in response to CIPC guidance to disseminate the study as broadly as possible throughout the intelligence and law enforcement communities. [redacted] 25X1

8. Soviet Ballistic Missile Defenses: The Task Force established to study this intelligence problem completed its interim report on 3 February. The interim report has been forwarded to the DCI and CIPC members. On 21 February a Community Working Group was established to undertake the next step and develop for the DCI a detailed study on this problem with specific actionable recommendations. This process is well along, and the target date for completing a coordinated draft is 16 March 1984. [redacted] 25X1

9. Intelligence Collection Against China: Although this study effort is continuing, it appears that the effort has slipped some 4-6 weeks behind schedule. The Chairman of the Working Group and CIPC staffers are midway through drafting a consolidated report based on separate inputs from the respective subworking groups--

One of the primary problems with the respective inputs is that they do not represent broadly based contributions from the subgroup members. However, this situation is being resolved and a draft report will be forthcoming.

10. CBW Study: The Terms of Reference (TOR) for this study were approved, with modifications, at the CIPC meeting on 13 February 1984. The TOR was subsequently modified to reflect the CIPC recommendations and was promulgated by the Chairman, CIPC on 28 February. The TOR has been forwarded to the Chairman of the Working Group for implementation. Concurrently, the Working Group was instructed to make every effort to adhere to the production timelines established for the three-month study effort. On 29 February the Working Group convened its inaugural meeting under the chairmanship of Assistant NIO At-Large. At the meeting a conceptional framework for the study was discussed and agreed upon by the Working Group.

11. Target/Topic Assessment and Evaluation: The CIPC staff is in the final stages of developing a concept to evaluate collection strategy mixes in relation to developing national strategy and intelligence needs. As you know this concept is being developed at the request of the DCI.

12. Finally, the undersigned and of the CIPC Staff had a very insightful trip to US Customs facilities in Houston and San Diego and the NNBIS in Long Beach during the period 13-18 February. The purpose of this trip was to acquire an operational understanding of the US Customs Regional Intelligence Centers presently being established to enhance Customs role and responsibility for collecting and evaluating narcotics, terrorism and technology transfer intelligence.
